

Level Up: Senior Living Insights for Realtors

Join leading voices from the senior living sector for an insightful morning presentation exploring the current landscape of senior housing and the trends shaping its future trajectory. Industry experts will share perspectives on emerging market drivers, evolving resident expectations, and the strategic opportunities influencing development, investment, and service delivery across the sector.

This session also provides a valuable opportunity to connect with key contacts across the senior living industry and discover how the right strategic partnership can support both your business and your clients more effectively.

Enjoy a complimentary café and receive an exclusive Chartwell takeaway gift.
